

Teacher Contracts Put Over Week by School Board

Trustees met Tuesday—Revise school calendar—School Good Friday morning—Audit bills.

Action on teacher contracts was deferred at the February meeting of the Board of Education Tuesday night at the suggestion of the chairman of the teachers' committee. There is an uncertainty over the amount and time of the state aid check for Addison and the new contracts are to be based on the amount received from the state. It is expected that a special meeting will be called in a week or 10 days.

Plumbing work, heretofore allotted to one concern here is to be divided hereafter it was voted at the meeting held Tuesday night in the office of Principal Irving Gladstone.

Principal Gladstone spoke of the cadet teachers at the school for three weeks. They are from Syracuse University and securing experience here. He pointed out that this is a trend in education to have the young people go into the field for part of their work. The two assigned to Addison were Dorothy Andrews and Kenneth Farrell.

Mr. Gladstone also called attention to the fact that owing to the storms the school calendar would have to be changed to meet state requirements on teaching. Students will be required to go to school Good Friday morning and Friday after Memorial Day ordinarily used as holidays in the school calendar.

A report of Bernard Wilson, treasurer of student activities was read and shows that $869.61 has been received from extra-curricular activities and $471.95 has been expended leaving a balance of $377.66 of which $341.95 is in the Senior Class treasury.

Miss Thelma Albright and William Lundrigan will be chaperons for the Senior trip to Washington at Easter time.

The Board passed a resolution of condolence in the death of Mrs. Milne Stewart, who died Tuesday afternoon. She is a sister of Clark Baxter, member of the Board. A letter from the Wildrick Subscription Agency was read relative to submitting a lower price for the school magazines than Tyson's News Room. No action was taken on the communication.

Wellman Expert At Tree Judging In Ithaca

Russell Wellman, a student in agriculture in the Addison High School placed fourth in the New York State tree identification and judging contest held in Cornell University during Farm and Home Week.

This placing was attained in spite of the fact that because of bus troubles and late arrival in Ithaca, it was necessary to limit his time in the judging event.

By finishing fourth, Russell obtained a rating of 1.6 while the winner attained a rating of 1.3. This shows the closeness of the judging. One is a perfect score.

About 100 students took part in the contest from schools throughout the state. In order to be eligible for participation a student must have been a winner in the local school contest and have had special training before entering the state contest.

Her survivors, besides her husband, include two daughters, Mrs. Rush Shumway of Corning and Mrs. Mabel Morris at present a patient in Mt. Hermon Sanatorium; a son, Hobart of Addison; five grandchildren, Mary Charlotte, Richard and Catherine Archer who were in her care since the illness of their mother; also Robert Shumway of Addison and Lee Shumway of Woodhull. Another son, Kenneth, died in November 1938. Two sisters and three brothers also survive, they are Mrs. Jennie Hendley and Mrs. Anna McGilivray, both of Addison; Fred and Edward Seaman of Hornell and Charles Seaman of Susquehanna.

Funeral services will be held from the family home at 2:30 this (Thursday) afternoon. The Rev. John V. Axtell will officiate and burial will be in Addison Rural Cemetery.

Feed the Birds Who Cannot Find Food in Snow

Birds are having a difficult time getting food with all the snow on the ground and are unable to forage for themselves. Farmers as well as people in the villages are being asked to throw grains on top of the snow and barns and other places for the birds so that they may not starve.

And those with more time and a greater love of birds are being asked to set up feeding platforms which cannot be covered with snow and also to tie suet to tree branches and ears of corn so that the birds can peck away and eat.

The exceptionally heavy snows have made foraging on the part of the birds rather difficult, hence the requests for feeding from state officials and from conservation clubs throughout the snow covered sections of the state.

Masonic Fraternities Met in Woodhull Monday Evening

Members of the Masonic fraternity from Hornell, Addison, Jasper and Woodhull gathered here Monday evening to honor Jent C. Brown a 52 year member of Restoration Lodge 77 F. & A. M. Mr. Brown was presented a bronze medal, awarded by the Grand Lodge to those members who have a half century of continuous and meritorious service to the fraternity.

Inscribed on the back of the medal is the date of the beginning of Mr. Brown's membership, January 20, 1888.

The presentation was made at a regular meeting of the lodge by Attorney Acton M. Hill of Hornell district deputy for the Steuben Masonic district. In awarding the medal District Deputy Hill emphasized that fifty years membership was not sufficient qualification for the honor and that the grand lodge committee recommended the medal only in cases of special service. Mr. Brown, he said was eminently qualified having served as master of the lodge and filled every office of the order at some time and has been constant in attendance during his long membership.

Mr. Brown is also a life member of Corning Consistory and a 32nd degree Mason; a 51 year member of Addison Chapter 156 R. A. M. a member of the Past Masters Association of Steuben district and a past patron and member for 43 years of the Eastern Star. His association with other fraternal organizations includes membership in Woodhull Lodge 810 I. O. O. F. and Woodhull Grange.

ed an exclusive board committee meeting for Friday, March 8 at 5 o'clock in the M. G. Hubbs store. There were 36 at the meeting Wednesday. The dinner was served in the Guild Hall of the Episcopal Church by the Woman's Auxiliary of the church.

Carl Rouse was chairman of the program. He presented his brother, Forrest Rouse who gave three electric Hawaiian guitar selections. The first was "Lamp Lighting Time in the Valley" with vocal interpolations by Carl and Forrest Rouse. He then gave an old favorite, "Mother-the Queen of My Heart" and closed with a square dance number.

Mr. Rouse then presented J. Victor Faucett, secretary of the Steuben County Fair who mentioned that the Bath Fair was the oldest of its kind in the country and receives no subsidies, paying its own way. He then presented several reels of color motion pictures of interesting exhibits, animals and personalities of the Bath Fair last year. He explained many of the pictures. He also showed some interesting color pictures of the World's Fair in New York taken when he was there last summer. A sports reel of fishing was also included in the exhibition. Club members appreciated the pictures and thanked him for them.

Mr. and Mrs. Varn Form Law Partnership

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh A. Varn who are both attorneys have formed a partnership for the practice of law which will be conducted at their residence 1 Baldwin avenue, recently purchased by them.

Attorney Doris Russell Varn graduated magna cum laude from Elmira College in 1933 and after completion four years' law study was admitted to the bar January 13, 1938, having passed her bar examination on her first attempt. She was associated in the practice of law with Attorney George A. King until June, 1938, at which time she was compelled to relinquish the active practice of law due to a serious impairment of her vision. During the past few months her eyesight has gradually improved and although her vision is still impaired Mrs. Varn is now able to resume active practice.

Attorney Hugh A. Varn, a graduate of Albany Law School, has been practicing for the past ten years.

sociation with other fraternal organizations includes membership in Woodhull Lodge 810 I. O. O. F. and Woodhull Grange. Walter Reynolds master of the lodge presided during the evening's ceremonies and called on many visitors for remarks. All responded with interesting thoughts. Mr. Brown in his response to the presentation speech expressed his deep interest in the lodge and the enjoyment which had been his during the 52 years of service. One of his desires was realized when he witnessed the initiation of his son Gilbert Brown in Restoration Lodge last summer.

Restoration Lodge was founded about 65 years ago, succeeding an early Masonic lodge known as Woodhull Lodge which gave up its charter, later in restoring masonry in Woodhull it received the name of the new lodge.

District Deputy Hill was introduced by Attorney Charles L. Crane of Addison Union Lodge 118 a past district deputy.

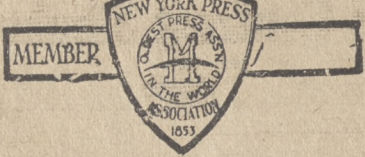

An oyster supper was served at the close of the meeting.

Guests attending from out of town were: Acton M. Hill, Dana B. Heelings, Oren B. Haynes, E. W. Cook, Benjamin F. Bagley, Fred R. Lamphear, J. G. Austin, Hornell; Earl Wilson, Charles L. GREATEST HUMANITARIAN FOR 1939

Many are the stories of success told in this country of poor boys who struggled up through the ranks to high position or wealth. Now down in Georgia there is another story of success—a different kind of success, yet it is a tale of vision and perseverance which has won a reward as dear, no doubt, to the winner as the highest position in the land. It is the story of a country Sunday school teacher who has just been named winner of the Humanitarian award for the "most outstanding achievement in human welfare during 1939".

The winner is Miss Martha Berry, founder and director of the Berry Schools in Mount Berry, Ga. The story of Miss Berry is more fascinating and soul-stirring than that of any captain of industry, for it is the story of one who built an institution out of a little idea about helping others.

Thirty-eight years ago Miss Berry started her Sunday school in a log cabin in the red clay hills of Georgia. At first she taught only Bible stories and the principles of cleanliness, decency and kindness. Then she opened four branch schools in outlying districts. From that beginning the idea grew into an institution which has 125 buildings for training in the vocations and professions.
Graduates include teachers, ministers, lawyers and missionaries.

One of the most amazing things about the Berry Schools is the fact that less than 8 per cent of those who have passed through the "gate of opportunity" have paid anything for their tuition, training or keep. Indeed, it has been the "gate of opportunity" to thousands of boys and girls who never could have had an education of any advantage without the Berry School. An accredited college it is said to be the "world's largest campus."

The college now has an enrollment of 1,200, but there is a waiting list of 3,000 young people hoping for the chance to enter. And this has all been built out of nothing except an idea—Miss Berry had no means of her own. She has depended entirely upon the contributions of those who became interested in her work, for carrying on the building and maintenance of the Berry School. Through her faith and efforts 10,000 needy young people have received an education.

No wonder the name of Martha Berry stands high in the annals of those who love to do for others. No wonder the Variety Clubs of America have selected Miss Berry as the recipient of their second annual Humanity Award. The selection was made by a nominating committee composed of 33 newspapers and magazine publishers, editors and radio personalities. With the award goes a silver plaque with an intrinsic value of $1,000.

Truly, Miss Berry has richly earned the title of "Greatest Humanitarian" for 1939.

LIKE BUILDING A BARN

The motive behind agricultural marketing cooperation is identical in principle with the motive of the farmer who calls in his neighbors when he builds a barn. He can't build the barn properly alone, so he sensibly obtains help.

No farmer, disposing of his produce alone, can get the most out of it. Nor can he expand his market, deal on an even basis with the middleman, or adequately deal with any number of other problems. Marketing cooperation combines the production, energies and abilities of thousands of farmers into an organization capable of properly and efficiently representing them. The cause of each individual participating is thus served by group action.

PRESS OPPOSES DISCRIMINATION

At its annual meeting, the New York State Publishers Association passed this significant resolution by unanimous vote: "Resolved that it is the belief of this Association that retail merchandising, which so intimately touches the pocketbooks of wage earners and consumers generally, should be free from all unjust, punitive and discriminatory taxation, local, state and Federal, in whatever form imposed."

This is not an isolated instance—press associations in many states, representing big dailies and little weeklies, have gone on record with similar resolutions. And that is a highly important fact.
For America's working newspapermen are second to none when it comes to understanding and analyzing America's problems. They know full well that millions of families have an exceedingly difficult time in making both ends meet—and that the higher costs which inevitably follow punitive taxation would be a harsh blow to their welfare and standard of living. They know that American retail merchandising, under the open competitive system, has done a superb job in serving the consumer at lowest cost, and distributing the products of farmer and manufacturer. They realize the immense dangers political destruction of this proven, established system would involve.

Equally important, the American press, rooted as it is in the democratic tradition, knows that punitive, discriminatory treatment of one kind of business will pave the way for similar treatment of other kinds of business—and eventually all business. There is no room in a democracy for class legislation or class taxation. And the American press is fighting for democracy when it opposes them.

PROTECTION IN PEACE AND WAR

Some lines of manufacturing business have reached the stage where development of sidelines is the way by which they get a profit.
Sometimes, likewise, an invention designed to accomplish a certain piece of work, is turned to another and more widespread use than what the inventor expected.

That is doubtless what will happen to a new device recently perfected by a physicist at Johns Hopkins University. Dr. A. Hermand Pfund turned his mind towards creation of a device a school colleague desired to determine the rate at which cancer cells manufacture carbon dioxide.
The mechanism fashioned by Dr. Pfund is so sensitive it can detect gas in the atmosphere in the proportion of one part in a million.

Development of the mechanism which is based on long known spectroscopic principles has opened a wide field of use both in war and peace. The device is so made, gas of known quality can be detected by signals which in turn can be transmitted by electricity over long distances. By using different devices for testing for different kinds of gases in war a central station could quickly notify troops at the front the instant danger was present. In peace there are a multitude of uses which could make this device a life saver.
Mines equipped with the mechanism could be watched closely and miners removed from danger as soon as signs of poisonous or explosive gases were registered in a central office. This should prevent many mine explosions, as well as furnish a means of testing the air at all times to prevent slow poisoning in mines.

Science marches on. Man with hideous ingenuity designs means of destroying life in terrible methods of warfare, like the use of poison gas in the World War. But the arms of defense are said to nearly keep pace with those of offense.
Gas masks were quickly developed for protection from gas attacks and now science has devised a means of detecting even slight amounts of gas in the atmosphere. Perhaps the fast growth of advance and countercheck in war methods will eventually build a safeguard against war.

It was feared Hitler would unleash his terrible engines of destruction in Europe last fall, but for some reason the Nazi dictator has hesitated to try any telling blow. Perhaps he fears retaliation will make his own people heartily sick of a kind of war that could be public butchery of non-combatants. The war is not over, of course, but for the first six months effort on land has amounted on both sides to staying behind great defensive forts that almost forbid capture. Neither side cares to throw lives away in a heavy blow which would likely fall most heavily upon themselves.

If man would turn his back upon the planning and making of wars and devote that waste energy into pursuits for the uplift of humanity instead of destruction, what a changed world we would see over night. May the development of methods of defense like the gas detector of Dr. Pfund, continue to make less forceful the arms of destruction which tempt heartless rulers to lead misguided people into wars.

SNARING THE TAXPAYER

A short time ago an official of the Federal government's Bonneville Dam project announced that the Pacific Northwest was faced with a serious shortage of power. The obvious implication is that this should cause the government to spend more of the taxpayers' millions for more tax-free government generating plants.

Whether the Pacific Northwest or any other section of the country really is confronted with a power crisis is a moot question. But if it is, the reason is perfectly apparent. During the last seven or eight years, investment in new facilities by private utilities has been discouraged by the government itself. Responsible utility executives have reiterated time and again their desire to expand their plants. Why haven't they done so?
Because the Federal power socialization program, which has directly or indirectly menaced the very life of every private utility in the land, has made it practically impossible for the industry to attract and protect the necessary new capital.

Economists figure the private utilities could spend at least a billion dollars a year or more on expansion and plant betterment if they were given the assurance that they would be permitted to stay in business, earn a moderate profit, and be freed of the spectre of tax-subsidized Federal competition which no private citizen can meet.

"Government competition with the utilities has caused a power shortage—therefore government must compete further to make it up"—that is the trap the utility baiters set. The worst sufferer is the common taxpayer who has been snared for close to two billion dollars for electric projects which would have otherwise been built with private funds and which would have paid gigantic sums in taxes instead of being tax-free parasites, in order that socialism might be furthered in this nation. And the end is not in sight.

Professor Mildred Carney answers:
"Fuller's earth might absorb some of the oil stain if the stain is quite new; that is, some of the stain may come off the paper. It may continue to come to the surface of the paper since it is in the pores of the paper. You might also try sponge-ing the spot with carbon tetrachloride. Unless you can get the oil stain off the paper, the stain cannot be removed, it may be shellacked before repapering. A good plan would be to shellack over the stain put some wall paper over it, and leave it for a few days before putting on the final paper."

New and Old Plaster

I. B. asks: "I have a new finished coat of plaster will adhere to old plaster on the ceiling."
W. H. Ashton, of the agricultural engineering department answers:
"It is a difficult job to make a new finish coat of plaster adhere to old, well-hardened plaster. This old plaster probably contains some glue size that was applied before papering, and it will prevent the new coat from binding with the old."

"For a smooth job, remove all of the old plaster and have the ceiling replastered. If you do not care to do this, it is possible to staple expanded metal lath on the ceiling.
Use long staples driven well into the ceiling joists, and staple enough to prevent the lath from sagging after the plaster is applied."

President stated that more planes and guns were needed to defend the Finns have admitted the loss of the island forts of Kotivo, while claiming the Russian attempts to batter through the Mannerheim line have been defeated. Soviet troops keep attacking the strong fortified positions in waves and observers state losses of the attacking force are enormous.

Heavy movements of German troops are reported near the north end of the opposing lines between France and the Nazis. Artillery bombardments have also increased recently and observers are watching for the anticipated big spring push.

Finns have been buying large quantities of arms in this country.
The Winchester Arms Company is said to have received an order of 50 million rounds of infantry cartridges. In addition the Finns have arranged to buy shells and other heavy ammunition.

Tax Reduction League Formed in Corning P. P.

Specific recommendations for cutting the New York State budget for the year 1940-41 were made at a protest meeting of 50 taxpayers held in the Baron Steuben Hotel last Thursday afternoon. And a permanent organization for protest against the budget was formed with James P. Hallahan as chairman.

The committee has the experience of former assemblyman Wilson Messier and former research clerk to the Ways and Means committee of the Assembly as a guide and help.

The group formed itself into the "Corning and Painted Post League for Tax Reduction." The public is invited to attend any of the meetings, which will be announced in the near future. Officers of the League are: Vice president, N. R.
Wickersham; treasurer, Frederick R. Parsons, Jr.; secretary, C. W.
Bond; executive committee, Mr.
Messier, Mr. Bond, Mr. Wickersham, Dr. E. F. Sijetly and Mason B.
Coker.

The recommendations called for reduction of $12,000,000 from the $80,000,000 welfare item, $1,500,000 by eliminating new state buildings this year, save $1,000,000 by holding up salary increases this year, reduce education fund $4,000,000 and budget for that item would be same as this year, postpone highway construction about New York and save $1,000,000, cut $750,000 from Labor Department, abolish St. Lawrence Power Development and save $80,000.

Specialist to Visit Addison Home Bureau Club

As a part of the Home Bureau program of the Addison unit two groups have been meeting for special study on Family Life. One group, the Addison Family Life study club has been interested in the subject of The Later Years. At their meetings they have discussed
"Growing Old Gracefully," "Learning in the Later Years," "Achievements of Later Life," Being a Grandmother, and the "Compensations of Growing Older." This group will hold the last meeting in their course on the morning of March 5.
They will gather at 10:30 at the home of Mrs. Elroy Hannahs, chairman of the group. The Family Life Specialist, Mrs. Blanche Hedrick, will be the guest of the club at this time.

At noon the group will be joined for lunch by the Addison Mother's Study Club. This group has been interested in the study of pre-adolescent children, "Enjoying Our Children." Their leader is Mrs.
Sheldon Stewart. They have already discussed the following topics:
"Physical changes which make them behave that way," "How are we to know what interests to develop?"
"Emotion is a mover." This group will continue their discussions thruout the spring months.

Mrs. Hedrick conducted two training schools in the county last fall for Family Life Leaders from the local Home Bureau Units. She discussed with the leaders, "Why We Like People," and "Getting Cooperation With Others." These leaders will repeat the discussions in their home units.

Mrs. Hedrick will meet with Family Life Leaders once more this year on April 13 when plans will be made or the work to be included on next year's Home Bureau program.

Those attending the luncheon meeting at the home of Mrs. Hannahs are requested to bring table service and sandwiches or rolls for self and a dish of food for the table.

ton Blake, neighbors here, met

U. S. Marine Recruiting Offices Closing—Men May Still Enlist

Major Clifford O. Henry, Officer in Charge of the U. S. Marine Corps Recruiting Station, Buffalo, N. Y.,

Corps Recruiting Stations in Binghamton, Syracuse, Elmira, Utica, and Rochester, New York, have been closed due to the fact that the authorized strength of 25,000 enlisted men has been reached.

Major Henry also said that although these stations have been closed, recruiting activities will continue, and that in the future all desirable young men residing in western New York, desiring to enlist in the Marine Corps should either call or write to Room 420, U. S.

the local Postmaster.

Each month a limited number of men will be enlisted at the Buffalo restrictions to the filing of applications, however applicants who apply and meet all requirements, will be placed on a waiting list and called for enlistment as soon as there are vacancies. Preference will be given to men carried on the waiting list.

the Woman's Club at her home Wednesday evening.

On Friday evening March 1, the Woman's Club will hold a game party, the first of a series that will be held weekly for the benefit of the Community House fund.

tee will present the rules governing the building for the approval of the community.

Alfred Men Exceed Enrolled Women

Alfred—If girls go to college to find husbands, they might have more chance in the College of Ceramics at Alfred University than in the Liberal Arts College, is a fact shown by a report from the office of Dr. W. A. Titworth, registrar showing the ratio of men and women among the Alfred University students.

There were 50 men and 50 women registered as freshmen in the Liberal Arts College during the first semester; among the Ceramic College freshmen there were 78 men and only 15 women. Of course, certain circumstances might interfere with the catch of husbands because in the two colleges there were 443 men and 187 women.

Tabulations show in Liberal Arts, of seniors 33 men and 23 women, of juniors 41 men and 22 women, of sophomores 49 men and 32 women and of specials 12 men and 4 women, a total of 185 men and 131 women.

In the Ceramic College are 48 men and 12 women as seniors, 59 men and 8 women as juniors, 72 men and 21 women as sophomores, and one man as a special, a total of 258 men and only 56 women.

Registration for the second semester shows 426 men and 187 women.

Here and There—

Perry—Over 5,000 miles of trees have been planted in Livingston County.

Chester—The snow removal fund of $25 in the budget had to be stretched a great deal this year.

Bath—John Taggart is serving his 33rd year as village clerk.

Bath—James Faucett was elected president of the Western New York Fair Association. He has been connected with the Steuben County Fair for the past 50 years. He is also president of the Central New York Fair Association.

Bath—Alfred H. Brown, clerk in the town of Bath welfare office has been dismissed for irregularities in issuing relief orders.

Spencer—The Round-up Club will sponsor a "Headdress Ball" at which everyone in attendance will be expected to wear some sort of fancy headdress.

Montrose, Pa.—Fred Prentice, 39 was struck by a D. & H. snow plow and unknown to the crew was lying several hours exposed to the cold and bleeding freely. When he did not respond to a telephone call workers went to seek him. He died from loss of blood and ex-posure.

WASHINGTON NEWS

Uncle Sam profits annually to the extent of approximately $90-000 representing the fractions of a cent, lopped off the pay checks of government workers. They are paid every fifteen days and, by Congressional Act, each check must be for the same amount. The fraction which the workers forfeit to Uncle Sam may be less than half a cent or it may be more than half a cent. In either case, the total fractional amount is never paid and the difference is never made up.
Only those employees whose annual salary, after deduction of their contribution for retirement, is equally divisible by twenty-four receive the full amount to which they are entitled. The average loss is about 6 to 12 cents but with nearly 1,000-000 employees an average of 9,000-000 pennies or $90,000 is presented annually to the Treasury.

The House and Senate have just adopted a concurrent resolution providing for a joint committee of the House and Senate to arrange for the inauguration of the President-elect of the United States on the 29th day of January, 1941.

Three members of the House and three of the Senate will serve on this committee. Since the adoption of the 20th amendment to the Constitution, the inauguration is by law set for January 20th instead of March 4. While Washington winters are not usually severe, the chances of having suitable weather for out-door inaugural ceremonies in January are not so good.

Discussion of the question whether or not the power of the President to negotiate and enter into Reciprocal Trade Agreements with foreign nations should be extended has occupied the attention of the House for the most part of this week. Disagreement on it seems to center along party lines, the Republicans being in opposition because of the manner in which the agreements are made by not allowing interested parties to express their positions and lack of Senate ratification. The minority report of the committee studying the bill authorizing extension concluded that the trade treaty program "has not been successful in accomplishing its primary purpose of expanding the foreign markets for the products of the United States or its unstated but officially declared secondary purpose of promoting peace; that it has not been administered in the national interest; that it should not be extended in its present form and a new being administered, particularly in the face of present and prospective world conditions."

Each year on the 22nd of February, both the Senate and the House set aside that entire day for the reading of the Farewell Address delivered by George Washington when he announced that he would not seek nor permit his re-election for a third term. This year it was read by Representative Crowther of Schuylkill, a Member of the House since 1919, who recently announced his own retirement from Congress at the end of his present term. Though Washington's address was delivered nearly 150 years ago it is particularly timely today and deserves the thoughtful attention of those who are interested in solving some of America's vital problems.

According to government reports, in 1939 more than 22 percent of the national income went for taxes whereas in 1929 the levy was about 12 percent. This means that for each dollar we earn nearly a quarter of it goes to the support of the government.

Each year the Department of Agriculture publishes a book on some phase of farming which is usually of interest to the rural sections.
There are a few of them left in my office of the years 1933 and 1938.
If you would care for one, just let me know.

Social Security Board's figures show 17 million persons were supported by Federal, State and Local governments last October at a cost of 3,216 millions a year. This was exclusive of 3,788 thousand public jobholders.

The number of workers involved in strikes during the last seven years are estimated at 1,190 million against 443 thousand in the seven years from 1923 to 1929.

Evelyn Reynolds, Helen and Catherine Horey, Grace Jackson, and Rosamond Caparulo. Andy Dominick, Harold Hargrave, Marvin Ricker, Matthew Whitmore, Shannon Bovee, Rumsey Reynolds, Russell Crawford, Keith Kizer, and the hostess Miss Wormley. The sleigh was furnished by Mr. Saxton.

Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Kibbe were in

Mrs. Frank Caparulo was in Addison Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hargrave spent Tuesday evening with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Milo Saxton.

This Week in Sports

Andrew Ponzi is still leading the pocket billiards tournament in New York for the world's championship. Irving Crame, well known locally, is in second place.

The Cincinnati Reds have eight hurlers ready to go to the line for them this summer and are conceded a better chance to hit the top than in several seasons.

Maurice J. "Clipper" Smith, head football coach at Villanova for the past four years is one coach with a job. In fact he has two jobs. Recently he announced he and Vincent McNally, his assistant coach were going to Loyola on the Pacific Coast. Now they want to withdraw. Villanova says they are still under contract and Loyola admits they have a contract which they will not throw out for anyone. So the Atlantic and Pacific fleets are expected to oppose each other before the sun rises on the next football season.

Baseball practice is starting along several fronts. If hardly sees like baseball weather, but then the fellows have to get ready. Bill Miller, coach of the Knights, has got his gang started with some skull practice being the chief item on the docket for the cold and snowy weather we have been having.

There have been some good knock-down and drag-out fights in the big time places during the past month and paying fans as well as radio fans have had plenty of excitement. In fact, this writer advises those with weak hearts to stay away from the microphone when the big fights are on, or else listen to another program. Five deaths have been recorded from the past two fights with listeners-in as the victims of too much excitement. The fights I mean were the Louis-Cody and Arben-Davis matches.

Papers are full of the new baseball rookies and their work in training camps, of new finds, of the condition of veterans. Baseball is a great life for those in the big time.

Paul "Daffy" Dean has announced he is retiring from baseball and thus passes from the national scene one of the brothers of the strange combination ever to enter the national game. Both started in big time, are still playing there but slower and both started with big talk which made them the laughing stock of the sports world. As long as they produced no one cared, but when they started to slip, then the world gave them the laugh and I guess they can stand it. Both are under contract to the Cubs. Dean may follow his brother and become a gentleman farmer. Paul had a client contract to become a Chicago Cubs pitcher. They were known as "The Dean and Paul" combination.

Babe Ruth is still a popular hero. Saturday morning when he left New York for Florida with his wife and daughter for a two months' vacation, he was besieged for autographs.

Van Lingle Mungo, Dodgers' stormy petrel had tough going in his first practice session in Clearwater, Fla., last week for he swallowed his chewing tobacco and was sick as a result.

LIBERTY POLE

Enough Snow Is Enough
Everything is wearing a mantle of white and it is snowing again this morning (Tuesday). The snow has reached a depth of 2½ to 3 feet on the level and many more feet in the drifts. The roads are so bad that school bus, mail and milk trucks have been unable to get through only a day or so at a time. The roads have been plowed once in this vicinity. People drive through the fields. William Payne who lives on the Martin Collins farm is unable to get out only as he comes across the Jones farm to the Liberty Pole road; John and Rexford Jones who work in Painted Post were unable to reach home for two nights and so stayed at the Post. Nearly every morning and night they have to be drawn by horses from the county road. The mail hasn't been in here since Friday. Enough said about the snow, here's hoping it won't last much longer.

Mr. and Mrs. Almon Newell were supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Rexford Jones Monday evening.

John Jones was a business caller in Addison Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Smith and family visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Casson recently.

Miss Frances Irvine spent the week-end at the Brennan home in Lindley.

Private William Casson of the U. S. Army is spending a few days at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Casson.

The snowplow has again come in this vicinity trying to clear the roads and make them passable.

New Milford—Twice in two years Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Schiavone have been driven from new homes by fire.

Tested Recipes—

The Kind Mother Makes

CARAMEL CREAM
eight to ten servings 3 tablespoons granulated sugar 1 cup milk
½ cup powdered sugar ¼ teaspoon salt
1½ tablespoons flour
2 eggs
1 pint coffee cream
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 egg whites

Caramelize sugar by heating until sugar is melted and becomes light brown in color. Add milk and cook until sugar is dissolved. Mix powdered sugar, salt, and flour thoroughly and combine with caramel mixture, stirring constantly and slowly. Cook for 15 minutes or until thickened, continuing the stirring. Combine with beaten egg yolks in double boiler. If you have an electric range, merely use saucepan on low or simmer heat. Cook slowly for 5 minutes or until thick, stirring constantly. Cool; add salt and cream. Pour into freezing tray. When frozen, remove to bowl; add vanilla and whip with beater until mix becomes light and creamy. Then carefully fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Return quickly to freezing tray to finish freezing.

CARAMEL NUT CREAM

Add ½ cup chopped English walnuts and pecans to the preceding recipe. The nuts can be folded into the mix after the whipping process and before the egg whites are added.

Nowadays tenderized hams need so little preparation that serving a whole ham is a simple matter. And while the cost may seem high, there is real economy in buying one of these delicious hams because to the last morsel the meat may be utilized in many ways to create delicious "left over" dishes.

BAKED HAM

If the ham is not already made tender by preparation it should be prepared in the following way. If tenderized, the ham need only be prepared by baking with the addition of sugar, spices or whatever seasoning is desired. The time for baking varies with the size of the ham, but an ordinary family size—say eight to ten pounds—should be baked from 2 to 2½ hours.

For whole ham—not tenderized, one 10 to 12 pound ham: Wash, place in kettle of boiling water to cover ham, add 1 teaspoon whole cloves, 1 stick cinnamon, 3 peeled garlic buds, 1 cup sugar and 1 cup vinegar. Simmer gently for 3½ hours or until tender. Turn off heat and allow to remain in liquor for 4 hours. Remove from water. Trim off skin and place in a baking dish with ¼ cup vinegar and ¼ cup water. Bake in a moderate oven for 1 hour.

Baked Ham With Tomatoes
Put a teaspoon of butter in the frying pan, lay in slice of ham 2 to 3 inches thick and brown well on both sides. Then lay ham in earthen baking dish, cover with ½ cup bread crumbs and ¼ cup brown sugar. Stick a few cloves in the ham. Pour 1 quart of tomatoes (canned) over the slice. Cover and bake until the ham is tender. If tomato juice cooks down baste with ¼ cup boiling water.

Ham a la King
Chop cooked ham and heat in a thick cream sauce with strips of pimento, a chopped green pepper that has been previously cooked and two hard cooked eggs, chopped. When hot serve on slices of buttered toast or in the center of a noodle ring.

AVOCADO SALAD A FAVORITE IN SPRING

Here is a recipe that's bound to stimulate spring appetites:

Cut large avocado lengthwise in halves, chill. Scoop out slightly larger hole than left by stone, stuff with cheese filling. Put halves together; wrap in wax paper to hold shape, chill 30 minutes. Cut in rings and serve on lettuce beds with piquant French dressing.

Dansville—The World Champion Filaret Basketball team of girls will play here soon.

Mrs. Charles B. Stewart

Mrs. Charles B. Stewart died suddenly at the home of her brother Clark Baxter, Tuesday, February 27, 1940. She had been in good health and had been keeping house for her brother the past four months, the end coming without a moment's warning at about twelve-thirty, shortly after she finished eating dinner.

Minnie Amelia Baxter was born at Garden City, Minn., March 20, 1865, the daughter of William and Lucetia Webster Baxter. When she was six weeks old her parents returned to their farm home on Orr Hill where her entire childhood was spent. She attended school in the Orr Hill School. March 20, 1881 she married Charles B. Stewart of Borden. The couple moved to a farm in the town of Woodhull where they lived 25 years. They then returned to the old Baxter homestead where they lived until 11 years ago when they moved to their present home in the former Parsels farm on Orr Hill.

Mrs. Stewart belonged to no organizations, preferring to devote her life to the care of her family and leave outside activities to others. She leaves, besides her husband one son, Matthew Stewart, 2 grandchildren, Gilbert and Wanda, and one great grandson, Gene Stewart, all of Orr Hill. Also her brother, Mr. Baxter who is now the sole survivor of a family of 5 children of whom he was the eldest. Mrs. Stewart also leaves several nephews and nieces.

The funeral will be held from the Baxter home on Steuben street, Friday afternoon at two o'clock. Burial will be in Addison Rural Cemetery.

"Cold-Wall" Prevents Drying Out of Foods

When homemakers learned last year that an entirely new type of electric refrigeration made it unnecessary to cover foods to prevent drying out and interchange of flavors, they realized that food preservation had reached a new stage of perfection which greatly simplified one of the more vexing household problems—that of preserving perishables in prime condition until they could be used.

Such a valuable advancement in food keeping methods naturally was certain to lead to even further improvements in the system by which the new refrigeration process is accomplished. So this year, according to Ward Williams, local Frigidaire dealer, several new features are incorporated in the Cold Wall refrigerator, which is the name used to designate this advanced type of refrigeration.

"As many thousands of homemakers know, a number of them local women who already have a Cold Wall in their kitchens, the Cold Wall is actually two refrigerators in one," said Mr. Williams. "The cabinet is divided into two separate sections, each section being sealed from the other with a heavy glass shelf known as the 'dew fresh seal'. The upper compartment provides conventional refrigeration by means of the freezer; while the lower compartment is cooled by refrigeration coils concealed in the walls and bottom of the cabinet.

"The purpose of the lower compartment is to provide storage space for foods that lose moisture rapidly when subjected to the air circulation present in a conventional mechanical refrigerator. This

CHAPTER CHATTER

That the potato industry of Steuben County is looking up was evidenced at the potato show which was held at Cohocton last week. This count is a strong factor in the production of potatoes in the east. However, during the past dozen years a decided change has come over the growing and marketing of potatoes. During this period the industry in Steuben County has gradually lost its place of prestige. Until a couple of years ago it was impossible to sell New York State potatoes on the New York City market.

Under the leadership of the Farm Bureau and other agricultural agencies a campaign to grade and market potatoes under a New York State trademark was made. What can be accomplished in a little over a year's time can be illustrated by a remark made at the potato show last week. In the city of Syracuse last year during the months of November, December and January, 40 carloads of potatoes were brought into the city from outside the state, during the same months this winter, not one carload has been brought from out of the state.

It was also stated that for the first time in 10 years New York State potatoes are in the product quotations of the New York city market.

New and attractive bags have become popular during the past year. Especially popular is the 15 pound bag. Many groceries, 4-H Clubs and Future Farmer organizations have adopted plastic containers to catch the eye of the prospective buyer.

Potatoes are about the only article of food stuff which are not bought by the consumer according to grade. Probably potatoes vary from one purchase to another more than any other article because for the most part, no effort has been made to standardize each package of potatoes. The time is not far distant when most of the potatoes will be graded.

Growers of Steuben County are placing their bets for certified seed this coming year. Last year, fostered by the Steuben Bankers' Association, considerable certified seed was brought into the county. This year it is expected that larger orders for certified seed will be placed with the potato dealers.

Considerable interest was manifested in the new disease which at the present time is known as the Z disease. This has been in evidence in a number of localities in this state this year. The chief characteristics of this disease is that the potato appears healthy on the outside, however, when it is cut the surface beneath the skin shows rings of black while the center is solid and eatable.

Stress was put on the fact that in order to be of good eating quality it is necessary that potatoes receive the correct fertilization and cultural practices, otherwise they may be of poor appearance and of poor quality.

Much work in the breeding of new varieties has been accomplished during the past few years. For years the Rural group of potatoes have been leading variety grown. The russet rurals have long been the leading variety of upper New York State. The most commendable thing about this variety was its ability to produce good yields under adverse conditions. However, the cooking and eating quality of this variety is not considered to be as good as some other varieties.

The state of Idaho has come into prominence the past few years by raising baking potatoes of good quality and by marketing in attractive packages. About 10 years ago the United States Department of Agriculture introduced a new variety which was called the Katahdin. The merits of this potato are that it has shallow eyes, is of good eating quality and has a light attractive skin. It is being widely grown in the northern part of Steuben County especially by the growers from Maine.

Other varieties which show considerable promise are Marba, which is an extremely early potato and which is gradually taking the place of the cobbler in this state. Other varieties which have shown some promise and which may be worthy of trial are golden, chippewa, pioneer rural and Houma.

Convention Speaker Proclaims Steuben Pioneer Potato Area

Originally grown on small acreages on almost every farm, potatoes were first produced commercially as a major crop in about 1850, and it was in the next two decades that the industry became established in Steuben County, said A. E. Mercker, marketing specialist of the United States Department of Agriculture, in addressing the potato growers assembled for their 13th annual meeting in Cohocton last Friday and Saturday.

The natural conditions responsible for the crop getting established are the same that make Steuben famous for its potato industry, a friable and well drained soil on the top of the high hills which make possible the production of potatoes of excellent eating quality.

Steuben has played an important part in the development of the potato industry throughout the nation, Mr. Mercker stated, and he explained how Spaulding Rose, the variety later adopted by Florida, was discovered by Hiram Spaulding of Avoca. The Boss digger was invented by Frank Keeler of Walla, and a potato grader was invented by Frank Boggs of Avoca.

Attendance Large
In spite of all but impassable roads, some 300 growers were in attendance throughout the two-day session. Many walked in, others drove horses, and only a few who lived on the main highway experienced no difficulty.

On behalf of the Steuben County Bankers' Association, Arthur Bidle, cashier of the Atlanta Bank, awarded prizes to the winners of the Potato Improvement Contest, of which Merritt Timmerman of Arkport was first, Frank Colling, Prattburg, second; and Karl Vogel, Cohocton, third, with Ray Neu, Elake Timmerman, Vincent Kurtz, Cohocton; Myron Rider, Gordon Sick, Arkport; Wesley Butts, Prattburg and Fred Mehlenbacher of Wayland receiving honorable mention.

Farmers who planted certified seed last spring were eligible to compete. Awards were made on the basis of high yields of No. 1 grade as well as the total production.

Blue ribbon winner in the Smooth Rural class west of the Cohocton River, John Schumacher's exhibit was also grand champion in the show, with Alex Brownson of Cohocton, second.

Owego—The storm of last week cost the village $679.85 for removal.

Other Show Winners

Gordon Sick, Arkport, was first, Harold Moore, North Cohocton, second in the Russet Rural; George Mehlenbacher of Wayland and Ray Yehon of Cohocton placed first and second in the Katahdin class.

In the Smooth Rural division east of the Cohocton River Harold Putnam of Prattburg and George Sick of Cohocton placed first and second among 29 entries. Augustus Schwingel of Cohocton and Harry Shaver of Wayland won the honors in the Chippewa division. George Mehlenbacher of Wayland and Wendell Schwingel of Cohocton placed first and second in Green Mountains.

The show of 145 entries was judged by Dr. E. V. Hardenburg of Cornell, with Arthur Wager of Cohocton as secretary. There were 30 exhibits in the freak display, and leading seed growers of New York State sent samples for the seed display.

CMTC Seeking Youths For Summer Camps

New York, Feb. 27—Seventy-two hundred strong, the annual muster of young Americans for the Citizens' Military Training Camps will get under way Friday, March 1 when the enrollment lists of the Second Corps Area will be opened throughout New York, New Jersey and Delaware to volunteers between 17 and 24 years.

Major General John H. Hughes, U. S. Army, commanding at Governors Island in the temporary absence of Lieutenant General Hugh A. Drum, today announced details of the camp plans worked out under his supervision. He said that while the total vacancies planned for this summer would be as great as in last year's encampments, young men must complete their applications at an earlier date because of the unprecedented rush of early comers.

Operating for thirty days beginning July 5, three C. M. T. Camps in New York State and three in New Jersey will offer those accepted the opportunity to fire regulation weapons and to participate in citizenship studies, hiking, drilling, athletics, and various other forms of outdoor life. The schedule of the six encampments follows:

Prattburg Barracks, N. Y., July 5 to August 3, course in Infantry-Basic, Red, White, Blue; Fort Niagara, N. Y., July 5 to August 3, course in Infantry-Basic, Red, White, Blue; Fort Dix, N. J., July 5 to August 3, course in Infantry-Basic, Red, White, Blue; Fort Dix, N. J., July 5 to August 3, course in Signal-Basic, Red, White, Blue; Pine Plains, Great Bend, N. Y., July 5 to August 3, course in Field Artillery-Basic, Red, White, Blue; Fort Hancock, N. J., July 5 to August 3, course in Coast Artillery-Basic, Red, White, Blue.

Free of cost to the student, transportation to camp and return is furnished, and for 30 days the Government provides wholesome food, uniforms, athletic equipment, laundry service, medical attention and similar items.

High school or college students comprise the bulk of young men who have applied to attend the twentieth annual session of the country-wide Citizens' Military Training Camps, it was learned at the Governors Island headquarters, where preparations have been going on for weeks.

TRACY CREEK

Mrs. Frank Campbell underwent a major operation at the St. James Hospital in Hornell one day last week and is now reported as getting along nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. George Campbell and family of Gorham spent the first of the week with his father Frank Campbell and family.

E. Tompkins and son Fred were in Machias Monday after a truck load of hay for Wilbur Koon and Randall Young. They report the worst piece of road they traveled was from the Sam Allen corner down Tracey Creek to the Tompkins home.

Frank Campbell and son George were in Hornell Monday and called on their wife and mother at the Hospital.

Perfect attendance record in the Hill District for the month of February: Eugene VanSile, Frank Campbell, Jr., Etta Marie Demun and Mary Jane Tompkins. There is no report for the Allen District as the teacher Miss Ruby Mose of Addison and the pupils were unable to get to the school.

Fred Tompkins took Frank Campbell, daughters, Mrs. Ella DeWick and Adelaide and son Jack and granddaughter Evelyn DeWick to Hornell one day last week to see Mrs. Campbell at the hospital.

Donald Stanford was in Addison Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Stanford have brought their two months old daughter to their home from St. James Hospital. The infant who weighs only six pounds now has been kept in an incubator up to the present time.

to meet the opening enrollment.

Strict enforcement of the rules, "first come, first served" is promised by the Army officers in charge of this work. Contrary to the belief of many, filing of the application blank must be followed by physical examination, vaccination, and completion of the inoculation series before a candidate can be considered for enrollment, it was explained.

"The high purpose of the CMTC," a statement from Governor Island said, "is to bring together young men of all types under pleasant conditions of outdoor life, to teach the privileges, the duties and the responsibilities of American citizenship, and to show the public by example that such camp life will be to the liking of their sons and that it will develop them physically, mentally and morally."

"Little Old New York" Starts Saturday at Fox

The boisterous town of the good old days, when cows roamed Fifth Avenue and a barmaid—or a lady—win a man like Robert Fulton, are brought vividly to life on the screen in Darryl F. Zanuck's production of "Little Old New York", the 20th Century-Fox film, which comes to the Fox Theater on Saturday, with Alice Faye, Fred MacMurray, Richard Greene and Brenda Joyce heading a splendid cast.

This robust, romantic drama casts Alice Faye in her most colorful role as the fiery belle of the waterfront who fell headlong for handsome Robert Fulton—and went after him, while the whole brawling waterfront cheered her on.

MacMurray is seen as the burly shipbuilder engaged to build the Clermont, after Fulton's model for the first steamboat; Greene is seen as the dashing inventor himself; and blonde Brenda Joyce has the role of the lovely girl who loved him, helped him to attain his dream in the face of ridicule, and who later became his wife.

Others prominently featured in the cast are Andy Devine, Henry Stephenson and Eve Feld.

Directed by Henry King, "Little Old New York" offers the most spectacular production of the producer-director combination which gave to the screen such unforgettable films as "In Old Chicago", "Alexander's Ragtime Band", "Stanley and Livingstone" and "Jesse James".

Before the actual filming of "Little Old New York" began, Director King, his assistant, Bob Webb, and a camera crew spent a few weeks in the East photographing old New York backgrounds and scenes along the Hudson for the production. They also did a vast amount of research on the history of the town and the career of Robert Fulton.

For the exterior sequences of the production, the studio built on its north lot the biggest harbor ever seen in Hollywood. The marine basin covered three acres. It was excavated to a depth of seven feet and filled with 5,000,000 gallons of water—a job that took three months in itself.

Dish For This Week

Fish, a regular Friday night dish for many families, is also a good stand-by for lunch or dinner any day of the week. It is a valuable addition to the diet. This Boston fish chowder, almost a meal in itself, is suggested by the New York State College of Home Economics:

Boston Fish Chowder
1 1/2 pounds of haddock 2 teaspoons of salt
1/2 to 3/4 pounds of fat salt pork, cut into 1/2-inch cubes 2 cups of potatoes, diced 1 cup of onions, cut in small pieces 6 cups of milk

Clean the fish, cut it into 1 1/2 cups of cold water that contains 1 teaspoon of salt and bring this slowly to a boil, simmering just below the boiling point until the fish falls from the bones.

Cut the salt pork into small cubes of uniform size and cook them in a skillet until they are golden brown, then remove the pork from the skillet and drain it on absorbent paper. Remove all but about 4 tablespoons of the fat from the skillet, then drop in the onion and cook it for about 10 minutes, but do not brown. Remove the cooked fish from the water and pour the water over the onions in the skillet. Add to this the diced potatoes, cover and cook them for about 10 minutes, or until the potatoes are tender.

Remove all bones and skin from the fish; put the fish with the rest of the salt, milk, potatoes and onions into a large kettle and heat the mixture just below the boiling point for at least 1-2 hour or longer. Serve the chowder hot with plain crisp crackers, broken into each dish just before serving, and garnished with the cubes of salt pork. This recipe yields about 10 cups of chowder.

A suggested lunch menu might be fish chowder and crackers or hot biscuits or toast, mixed vegetable salad with French dressing, cherry cobbler, or canned cherries and cookies.

Pittsburgh—Lorraine Limegrover, 17, died in the arms of a dancing partner here during a "jitterbug" number.

Snow, snow, snow and more snow. Did you ever get so sick of seeing snow as you have this winter? Everyone says daily, "well it can't last much longer," then along comes another cold blast, some more snow and some more uncompromising remarks. All to no avail. Many are sore, sick and lame from shoveling this winter.

I'm afraid the old American caucus system is going the way of many of our Democratic institutions, Democratic in the broad sense not party sense. Not enough Democrats appeared at their caucus Saturday night to enable them to hold a meeting and only 19 Republicans appeared and one of the candidates was not present. And yet people will rail and rant against the village, town, county and state officers and not show up for a meeting to choose them.

The thing that worries me in this thing, which seems so small, is what it implies for the future. If people will not be interested in their party, its candidates and an election, how can they blame the men in office for conditions. People here as elsewhere voice the opinion a certain few run things. Well, why not? If the average man will not get out, it is up to some one to run things. I'm afraid our Democracy is due for a severe jolt some day and I hope I'm not around when the storm breaks. For there just won't be any.

Charles Duval, Maple street, was sitting in his home gazing out the window one day last week, when three deer passed through Maple street. There seemed to be one buck, doe and fawn. He surmised they were driven down from the hills in search of food.

The deep snows have buried the food of many of the deer in the vicinity as well as other wild life. Conservation clubs and conservation-minded individuals have put out grains and food for the deer and birds. However, it is feared there will be a great number die from lack of food.

Farm animal breeding and improvement of stock are of prime importance to farmers who want to produce good animals. Young farmers will discuss this topic Monday night in the high school and any one interested, farmers, producers, and others are invited and urged to attend.

Dug your car out yet?

I'm going to the Hillbilly Wedding Thursday and Friday night just to see the Darling Dimple Dancers and will some of their friends be surprised.

Incidentally I learned that some of the members of that cast were forced to enter. It seems that the Welles Hose Company members who are sponsoring the affair, told some men that if the men would not be in the show, the firemen would not save their houses if the houses caught fire. Hence a good cast in some funny roles.

Grief came again to Clark Baxter member of the Board of Education. Recently he lost his wife and now his sister, who has been keeping house for him. He has the sincere sympathy of neighbors and friends.

Boy Scouts and American Legion members are being severely criticized by some of the residents of upper Tuscarora street for the condition of the walk in front of their quarters in the old grammar school during the storms of last week. The feeling is that inasmuch as the groups are permitted use of the building, they should have kept the walks clean, especially in view of the fact that there was no school for several days. Scouts in other communities shoveled hydrants, took care of sidewalks of vacant homes and helped communities in other ways during the trying days of the storms.

"Farm Breeding and Improvement" is Topic of Young Farmers

Young farmers of the out-of-school group of Addison High School will meet in the agriculture rooms of the high school Monday, March 4 at 8:15 o'clock.

The meeting will be conducted by Frank B. Finnerty, who will discuss the subject, "The breeding and improvement of farm animals". Lesson plans for this topic will be made and passed out to those in attendance. Many popular misconceptions exist relative to this topic. The breeding and improvement of farm animals is probably less understood by people in general than any other topic concerned with farming, according to Mr. Finnerty.

All phases of the subject will be discussed including gestation periods of various farm animals, determination of sex in the off-spring, the causes of sterility among animals, the laws of heredity "like begets like" and "unlike begets unlike, reproductive rates of farm animals and other ideas of similar nature.

The meeting, although primarily for boys who have been out of school only a short time, is open to all farmers and others in the area who are interested.

"Eats" will be served under the direction of Thomas Lyons and Lyle Johnson. After the refreshments there will be a recreation program for those who desire to take part.

Attendance at the meetings, held this year have been exceedingly good, the average attendance being 73. Joseph Coleman, president of the group, will conduct the business meeting.

Valuable Awards Offered 4-H Farm, Home Accounts

Account keeping as a national 4-H activity goes into its seventh successful year on March 1, the deadline for opening of new books for the National Farm and Home Accounting contest for 1940. Under the same plan as the 1939 contest, it is offered in three divisions—regular farm accounts, home accounts, and crop enterprise accounts, supervised by county and State extension agents.

All 4-H members under 21 years are eligible to keep books in any of the divisions, provided farm and home accounts cover any 12-month period between January 1, 1940 and March 1, 1941, and the crop enterprise records cover the 1940 production period.

With farm accounts there must be included a complete inventory of all farm possessions at the beginning and end of the 12-month period, a record of receipts and costs, crops and livestock produced, and an analysis sheet with suggested changes. Home accountants must show an inventory of household equipment, food and clothing, a record of family expenditures in addition to items contributed by the farm, and a summary and analysis showing adjustments made and a plan for the next year, incorporating changes suggested by the accounts. Crop records must show daily man and power labor, cash costs involved, returns from the enterprise and a summary giving changes to be made and difficulties encountered.

An entirely new "modified Danish system" is to be followed in awarding prizes for the 1940 contest. Three members of a blue award group in each county—one from each of the three divisions—will receive gold medals. In farm and home accounts, 24 all-expense trips to the 20th National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago in 1941 will be given as sectional awards, 12 in each division, and eight trips will be awarded sectional winners in crop accounts. From the 24 trip winners in farm and home accounts 12 national winners will be named to receive $200 scholarships—eight in farm and four in the home account phases.

Gone With The Wind

Traps were smart in the gay nineties. But who would think of using one in 1940 when an auto will get you there faster, safer, more comfortably.

Hiding important documents about your home is even more obsolete. The cost of a box in our vault is trivial when you think of the loss or inconvenience if valuable papers are destroyed or misplaced.

To the Editor of the Addison Advertiser:

The most important subject today before the country, including Addison, is the heavy expenditures of government whether that government be village, city, town, county, state or nation. The situation is critical, dangerous. Some expenses are unavoidable but others, the desirable, the hard pressed taxpayers cannot afford.

Too many thoughtless voters seem to think that the government always has money. The government has NO money except as the taxpayers supply it. And there is a limit to public credit, as experiences in Europe have shown. Also, when taxes get too heavy, the taxpayer collapses. The heaviest taxes are laid on real estate so that people no longer wish to own property. Thousands of property holders have had to let their property be sold for taxes. Steuben County today has title to hundreds of pieces of property and does not know what to do with them.

Government spending must be cut. Unnecessary expenses, no matter how desirable, must be dropped. "But this is beneficial, so good for every one" is the argument. Even so, all beneficial things cannot be had, if we haven't the money. That is true both for the individual and the state.

A beginning of curtailment, of self restraint by government should start with the small political units like Addison. We citizens of Addison should see that the taxpayers are not asked to carry too heavy a burden and that it shall not be necessary for more property to be sold for taxes. The state and county taxes in January, as every taxpayer knows, were increased one third over last year's, a very high raise. We cannot let that same thing happen when our village taxes are paid in May. And that will happen, if we indulge in extra expenses as a new fire engine costing $4,500.00.

The village is naturally very grateful to our volunteer firemen who give us such valuable, splendid service. These firemen are also taxpayers and citizens and should realize how serious that extra expense would be to the village. Of course, a new fire engine would be nice but this village is not wealthy and its citizens have had a hard time making both ends meet. This matter of a new fire engine is to be voted on at the coming village election and every citizen ought to consider the question very carefully before he votes.

COMMUNICATION

Editor Addison Advertiser:

As a resident of the village who makes use of the sidewalks I wish to voice a protest against the deplorable condition of the walk in front of the old grammar school.

I understand this property is used jointly by the American Legion and Scouts and what a fine spirit of appreciation would have been shown had either group cleared the walk of snow! It has been pointed out to me that the Legion members are meeting in private homes this winter, but that still leaves a group of boys available. There was no school for several days following the "big snow" and how better could the larger Scouts have performed their "daily good deed" than by getting together and clearing that walk? Incidentally I wonder to how many the slogan, "a good deed each day" is a mere jumble of words.

Let them wallow from the building to the public walk if they wish but for the sake of the several elderly people who must perforce use that walk it should be cleared following each fall of snow.

March is an important month with Presbyterians. It is pay-up month when your yearly obligations both to the local church and our benevolences are due. We certainly will attend to this. It is also the month when we take the yearly financial canvass to raise the budget for the church expenses and our share of the church at large. We confine this clear-cut duty to one month in order that during the balance of the year we may concentrate upon the spiritual work that Christ our Head expects of us.
